ROHRBACH-ROBINSON.

Miss Sarah Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Robinson of Hondo, and Mr. Casper Rohrbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rohrbach of D'Hanis, were united in holy wedlock in a beautiful ceremony Tuesday morning, October 27, 1936, at 9 o'clock in St. John the Evangelist's Church of Hondo. Rev. Father I. A. Flynn, pastor of St. John's, performed the ceremony and officiated at the Nuptial High Mass. The church choir sang the Mass.

The Sanctuary, with its candle-lighted altars and floral adornments of white chrysanthemums and fern, was the beautiful setting for the impressive service. Floor baskets of chrysanthemums and fern banked the aisle leading to the entrance of the Sanctuary where the groom and his best man, Mr. Clarence Turner of D'Hanis, awaited the bride party.

The attendants entered as follows: bridesmaids, Miss Irene Carls in pink satin, and Miss Alice Rohrbach in Nile green, wearing silver turbans and sandals to match. Bouquets of bluish pink dahlias were carried. The maid of honor, Miss Lucille Robinson, sister of the bride, was similarly gowned in peach and carried an arm bouquet of bluish pink dahlias. Groomsmen were Maurice Koch and Marvin Koch.

Preceding the bride, who entered with her father, were two little flower girls, Martina Nester and Mary Louise Bendele, wearing peach ruffled frocks and carrying pink flowers. Master David Rohrbach, the groom's nephew, was ring bearer.

Miss Robinson was a lovely bride in ivory satin made en traine. Its simple princess lines were relieved by a standing collar adorned with seed pearls. Her tulle veil was caught with a band of orange blossoms and fashioned in halo effect. She carried a shower bouquet of white dahlias and fern.

Following the Nuptial High Mass the wedding party and the immediate families of the couple were served a sumptuous wedding dinner at the home of the bride. The large white wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, centered the table.

Immediately after the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbach left on a motor trip to Dallas, the bride wearing a travel suit of black transparent velvet and black accessories.

On their return they will make their home in Hondo where the groom is employed with the Hondo bottling works.

This paper joins the many friends of the young couple in extending congratulations and best wishes.

WHITEHEAD-MILLER.

A wedding of interest to a large personnel of friends was that of Miss Helen Ann Miller, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Miller of Hondo, and Mr. Colby Whitehead of Vivian, La., youngest son of the late Mr. J. S. Whitehead, which occurred at 5:30 P. M., Saturday, October 24, 1936, in the Methodist parsonage of Vivian, La. Witnesses were the bride's mother, Mrs. O. H. Miller, and her sister and brother, Miss Charlotte Miller and Bru Miller, of Hondo.

The bride was attractive in a smart grey wool frock trimmed in grey fur, and green accessories.

Mrs. Whitehead graduated from Our Lady of the Lake High School and also attended Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio. For the past few years she was a teacher in the Castroville Public School. She was a popular young lady of this community, representing the town as "Miss Hondo" one year in the Medina County Fair.

The groom is a native of Woodville, Texas, but spent several years in Hondo. He attended Texas Tech at Lubbock and also Texas University in Austin. At present he is employed by an oil company at Vivian, where the young couple will make their home.

Congratulations and best wishes for a happy future are extended them.

HONDO METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.

This coming Sunday will close our work for this Conference Year. The pastor and his wife are planning to leave Sunday afternoon, on the afternoon train for a brief visit with their son and his wife in Port Arthur, before attending the "Centennial Annual Conference" at Houston, which opens on the 4th of November. Since next Sunday will be the final service for this Conference Year we would, therefore, be delighted to see a large attendance of the membership and our friends at the morning service.

All of the Annual Conference of the State of Texas will meet at Houston on November 4th, and this will be one of the greatest gatherings of Methodist preachers and laymen that ever assembled in our Southland before. This will be a great historical occasion. Each and every church within the Annual Conferences of the State of Texas are making special efforts at this time to send their pastors to the great Centennial Meeting with all financial obligations paid in full. We are pleased to announce that the larger majority of the churches of the Uvalde District have already reported, and will report all finances paid in full by the meeting of the great Conferences.

At this writing there yet remains quite a bit of work to be done before the Hondo Methodist Church will be able to send its Pastor to Houston with a "clean sheet". The Stewards are making a special effort to see the membership, and make collections sufficient for the pastor to go to Conference and report "everything in full, Bishop".

Now, brethren, let's all get behind the financial problem of our church, and if there are those who have not yet paid their church dues, we trust that they will make a special effort to do so between now and Saturday, by bank closing time. If you can't see your Steward, or if your Steward should fail to see you, you may leave the amount that you wish to pay at the Bank with Mr. A. H. Schweers, our bookkeeper, and he will give you proper credit. And if there are those who have made their payments, but feel that they would like to contribute a little more that the deficit might be taken care of, we would surely thank them if they too would either see their Stewards or make their "over and above payment" at the bank.

Let this be our slogan, "On to Conference with a full financial report".

The pastor will go to Conference as a representative of the Methodist Church and also the town of Hondo. Since we all have a church and town pride, surely all will want to have the church and town well represented.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

The Church of the Reformation observes its birthday annually on Oct. 31, because it occurred on that date in the year 1517. We shall, therefore, celebrate the Reformation Festival on next Sunday, Nov. 1, with appropriate services at 10:30 A. M. Sunday school and Bible classes will meet at 9:00 A. M.

We are very grateful for the fine cooperation of members at our annual mission rally. It will be long remembered as a day of blessing for our people and the Cause of His Kingdom. We were glad to see friends present also.

"This is life eternal that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent" is Jesus' Word spoken in a most reverent hour, that of prayer.

Due to the fact that the work of redecorating and refinishing the Church building will necessarily extend over a Sunday, there will be no services at our Church on Sunday, Nov. 8. The pastor is invited to be the speaker at the mission festival to be held at New Braunfels, and he will be there on Nov. 8 for that occasion.

The semi-annual San Antonio Pastors' Conference will be held at New Braunfels on Nov. 17 and 18.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.

Miss Cora Rieber, the bride-elect of Hugo Patot, was honored with an enjoyable miscellaneous shower at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, at St. John's Hall, with Mesdames A. E. Weynand, John Fischer, Henry Batot, Eiline Batot, Dorothy Marie and Ruby Rieber as hostesses.

The bride-to-be, entering to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin", played by Misses Evelyn and Margaret Ann Knopp, was led to her place of honor by little Misses Peggy Ann Batot and Glenore Mecher in Hallowe'en costumes of black and yellow ruffled net, tall yellow hats and yellow trumpets.

Miss Rieber was becomingly dressed in a frock of French wine with black accessories. The stage was beautifully decorated in the Hallowe'en and Harvest motif. Floor baskets holding beautiful pink dahlias were placed by the honoree's chair.

Miss Billy Merritt, dressed in Hallowe'en costume, did a delightful tap dance, accompanied by her sister, Milton Marie, at the piano.

Misses Earline Batot and Dorothy Marie Rieber were in charge of the bride's book, in which guests from D'Hanis, Dunlay, Hondo and San Antonio registered.

The honoree was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts for which she thanked her friends in a few simple words.

Delicious chicken sandwiches, devil's food cake, and hot chocolate with candy pumpkins as plate favors, were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Batot, while the Misses Knopp played "I Love You Truly".

TONY KLEIN DEAD.

Anthony Edward Klein, husband of Mrs. Bertie Lee Klein, died Tuesday in Harlingen, aged 54 years. He is also survived by his son, Arthur A.; daughters, Mrs. William Penry and Margaret Klein, all of Harlingen; daughter, Mrs. J. B. Rogers; grandson, John Bonner Rogers, both of San Antonio; sisters, Mrs. John Rothe and Mrs. Duncan Williamson of San Antonio and Mrs. Nora Perkins, Denver, Colorado. Services were held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Porter Loring chapel, Dr. J. Grady Timmons officiating. Interment was in City Cemetery No. 3.

Tony, as his friends here knew him, will be remembered by many Anvil Herald readers. His father set him up in the mercantile business here when quite a young man. Later he interested himself in farming and while a resident of Hondo married in San Antonio and brought his young bride to Hondo to reside.

Later they moved to Zavala County where he engaged in various activities.

His friends join his loved ones in mourning his untimely departure.

QUIHI NOTES.

So Abraham returned to his young men, and they rose up and went together to Beer-sheba, Gen. 22: 19.

As if nothing had happened, the great man, in the grace of God, came back to the servants and they made ready to return home. Not a word about the father's agony, not a sigh about the young man's threatening ordeal, not the slightest intimation of the great promise, of the elevated position for which the Lord had selected the patriarch. The heart, to be sure, was throbbing with gratitude, the eyes shone in a peculiar lustre, the step had grown more firm and elastic, and his bearing, no doubt, showed signs of happy energy, but not a word of exultation, boisterous joy, vainglorious effusions and the explosive spirit of future enterprises. No, by no means. This the ordinary, every day way of man, to remain calm and collected, happy in humble silence, after a great achievement, a remarkable success, an extraordinary victory. Ordinarily, swelled heads grow in such atmosphere, bombastic and overly detailed reports must be launched for the public, a thousand and one plans for the future start a luscious growth in such a heated and befuddled mind, the thing must be capitalized, commercialized, must serve as a springboard to greater, usually pecuniary, success; new programs of living, traveling, speculating, sport, extravagance and luxury implant themselves in the fertile soil of such a swagging brain, and it's often the beginning of the end, the catastrophe of the individual, his character and his surroundings. Examples are plentiful. Caesar squandered his glory with his African paramour, Cleopatra; Alexander, in the orgies of gluttony; Napoleon, in doling out kingdoms to his less than mediocre brothers; Grant, in wild speculations that wrecked record, fortune, credit and health. Saul, David and Solomon show similar symptoms, not to speak of the long line of generals, writers, statesmen, magnates, financiers and speculators that raged to ruin in riotous recklessness with achievements and opportunities entrusted to them. Abraham stands atop of them all in glory and blessing, and it does one good to see him remain balanced, with unblurred vision, his whole demeanor spelling: "Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy."

"Fair and cooler" was the weather forecast of our San Antonio Man for today. Perhaps our vocabularies and definitions differ. In the most optimistic judgment we must call it "raw and rather rainy all around" with no let-up in sight. While it makes little difference to the over-worked corn-pulling farmer, giving him a day of rest, it means the doom for our Community Social for tomorrow, Thursday, since it prevents the outside preparations today and holds out little hope for a successful program in the open and a somewhat fair-sized crowd to enjoy it. What can we do about it? Mumble, grumble, fume and fumble? Weather-making is the Lord's sovereign business, and He needs no counsel or advice of ours, much less growling criticism. He makes the weather, we build. He makes the weather, we use the parasol or rain-coat, carry out our scheduled program or—postpone it. And that's what we are going to do, postpone that Community Social for the coming SATURDAY, 31st OF OCTOBER, provided the Lord grants favorable weather for that day. Please take notice and tell your friends about it. We'll polish up the affair so much more till then. Forget the inconvenience of that postponement and make ready for the day mentioned, and welcome!

Announcements for Sunday, November the 1st: Reformation Festival. German service at 10:30; administration of the Lord's Supper; confessional service; please announce your coming; Sunday school in full at 9:30. Suffer little children to come unto Me. Some are forgetting. English service at 7:30; Lord's Supper and confessional service in English. Do not let that social interfere. Come.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

By Clayton Rand.

Woodrow Wilson stated that America's entry into the World War was to "make the world safe for democracy".

Democracies and monarchies have since collapsed by the score to become fascist and communist.

Who would have thought that Spain could have tumbled all the way from an absolute monarchy to chaotic anarchy within a few months?

The real issue in America will not be settled at the polls in November—for sinister signs lead sane men to believe that the preservation of our form of government is threatened.

Is the world safe for democracy—will America finally go red? That's the great issue. (Copyright.)

AGAINST THEM ALL.

Next Tuesday is national election day.

There are vital questions affecting the welfare of both nation and state involved in the result of the ballot on that day.

But owing to the peculiar political conditions prevailing in Texas, the election of both national and state officials is already over insofar as Texas is concerned.

If any mistakes were made—and God knows there seems to have been plenty—they were made in the primaries of last May and July.

It is too late to change the results now; the die was cast then insofar as Texas and Texans will be able to affect it.

The election of next Tuesday holds interest, therefore, chiefly for the six proposed Constitutional Amendments that will be voted on at that time.

These should have the thoughtful consideration of every voter; you should have good reason for voting FOR or else NO REASON FOR FAVORING SHOULD BE AMPLE REASON FOR OPPOSING, FOR CHANGE WITHOUT REASON IS FOLLY.

The M. E. has looked with favor on only two out of the six proposals. That relic of the benighted day when the lives of his subjects belonged to the king which vests a pardoning power in the hands of the governor should be rooted out of the constitution; but the proposed Amendment doesn't do it.

Why follow folly with a makeshift?

The preponderance of urban over rural political power is an admitted evil; but one evil cannot be cured by another; the citizen of the congested district is entitled to equal representation.

The remedy lies not in the proposed Amendment; it lies in the exercise of the constitutional authority to create five Texasese out of the one top-heavy one and bring the government closer to its people.

We are against them all.

VOTE!!!

The greatest possession of a free people is the ballot—the right to vote. It is a defender of our liberties and a weapon against injustice. Yet that invaluable heritage is not prized by millions of otherwise good citizens. Proof of this statement can be found in undeniable statistics. In most elections, less than half of the persons who are entitled to vote do so. It is exceptional when an election brings to the voting booths more than fifty per cent of enfranchised citizens.

One result is that public officials are elected by minorities—the vote of the majority is silent. Another, and worse result, is a flagging of interest by the people in a thing which vitally affects us all—our government.

This year, there are great issues before us. No matter where we may stand, it is our duty as well as our privilege to mark our choice on the ballot. Only by doing that, can we have popular government.

In Germany the right to vote has been virtually abrogated—at the last election citizens had a choice of endorsing Hitler or of leaving the ballot blank, there being no opponent. That is true of Italy, of Russia, of Greece, of a dozen other powers. And here in America, where we still have that right which preserves our freedom, half of us don't trouble to exercise it.

So—vote on November 3. Vote for (Continued on last page.)

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Dictator Stalin Foresees Another European War—Spanish Rebels Nearing Madrid—Simpson Affair May Lead to King Edward's Abdication.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

EUROPE'S situation, according to seasoned observers, is settling down to a fight to the finish between Communism and Fascism, and the several nations are lining up accordingly. Josef Stalin, Soviet dictator, is said to be convinced that another great war is at hand and that Russia must act promptly to take what he considers her proper part in the conflict. The civil war in Spain and the developments therefrom are providing the fuel for starting the fire. Russia repeats her accusations against Germany and Italy of giving aid to the Spanish rebels; the Fascist governments deny the charges and make countercharges against Moscow; the Soviet government appears to be on the point of quitting the committee for nonintervention in Spain and sending war munitions to the hard pressed radical government at Madrid.

Dispatches from Moscow said Stalin had been informed by his military advisers that as few as 100 planes could settle the Spanish war in favor of the government and that Russia could send them almost immediately. The Russians already have sent five shiploads of food and clothing to Spain, these supplies having been bought by subscriptions from Russian workers.

Should Stalin decide to come out openly in aid of the leftist government of Spain, the Nazis and Fascists may be counted on to redouble their already existing campaign against Communism—and many nations would soon be involved in the quarrel, with possibilities that terrify thinking persons the world over.

Klementi Voroshilov, Soviet commissar for defense, didn't allay the alarm any when he said in a formal statement: "The Soviet Union is prepared to meet the enemy anywhere he chooses to taste the force of our arms."

"We are ready with man-power, equipment, training and resources." A Russian language paper printed in New York said the Soviet press bureau in London had announced that Stalin would come to America after the November election, for medical treatment; that he would visit President Roosevelt, and later would go to Mexico. All of this was promptly denied officially in Moscow and by the Soviet embassy in Washington.

CLOSER co-operation between Germany and Italy in the fight on Communism was assured by an arrangement for "institutes" in Berlin and Rome, for Italo-German youth leadership, in which the Hitler Youth organization and Mussolini's Balilla, a Fascist youth body, are to unite. Baldur von Schirach, Nazi youth leader, so announced to a great gathering in Berlin.

In the Berlin institute Italian youth leaders will be educated in conditions and achievements under the Nazi state. In Rome, Nazi youth leaders will learn what Il Duce's Fascists have done for their country. Neither institute will attempt to imitate the other, Schirach said.

GENERAL FRANCO, head of the Spanish insurgents, ordered the immediate taking of Madrid and each day the state of the defenders of the capital became more desperate. The rebels closed in relentlessly, making effective use of bombing planes and armored tanks.

President Manuel Azana and some of his cabinet ministers slipped out of Madrid and appeared in Barcelona. Ostensibly they were making a tour of the loyalist fronts, but the general opinion was that they had fled from the capital to make a "last stand" in Catalonia, which province always is radical. Anyhow, Azana took over an office in the Catalan parliament building for himself and his secretarial staff. Senora Azana has quit Spain. She appeared in Toulouse, France, and departed for an unannounced destination.

JAMES COUZENS, independent Republican senator from Michigan, died in a Detroit hospital after a long illness and immediately following an operation to relieve uremic poisoning. He was sixty-four years old.

Mr. Couzens was one of the wealthiest men in congress, his riches being a result of early association with Henry Ford in the automobile business. He was twice elected mayor of Detroit and was appointed to the senate in 1922 to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Truman H. Newberry. As a senator he frequently disregarded party lines, and since the election of President Roosevelt he had supported many New Deal measures.

Before the recent primary he announced that, though a candidate for renomination as a Republican, he intended to support Mr. Roosevelt for re-election. This was an act of political suicide, and he was defeated by Wilber M. Brucker.

Senator Couzens was noted for his great contributions to charity. The chief of these was the gift of probably $20,000,000 for the help of unfortunate children. He established the Children's Fund of Michigan with an endowment of $10,000,000.

PEACE within the ranks of the American Federation of Labor has not yet been achieved, for the executive council of that body adjourned without settling the dispute between the Green and Lewis factions. The council will meet again November 14 in Tampa, and two days later the federation will open its annual convention in that Florida city. If there are developments meanwhile, the council or federation may discuss the quarrel, according to President Green. He said: "The matter is temporarily closed," and added that so far as he knew, no peace overtures had been made by the CIO leaders. Mr. Green declared the ten suspended unions could not be admitted to the convention.

MERE scandal and gossip have no proper place in this department, but the "affaire Simpson," as the French would term it, has progressed until it assumes world importance. As arrangements are being made for the quiet and uncontested divorce of Mrs. "Wally" Simpson, American friend of King Edward VIII of England, it is rumored in London society circles that the bachelor monarch will abdicate in favor of his brother, the Duke of York, and marry the attractive woman who has shared so much of his time in recent months. In support of this rumor is the reported fact that plans are being made for renting the farms of the Sandringham estate in Norfolk, which is the king's private property. Also, there is a story that this estate may be sold to the Aga Khan, the immensely wealthy spiritual head of the Ismaili sect of Mohammedanism.

Should Edward give up the throne, it would eventually be occupied by Princess Elizabeth, eldest daughter of the Duke of York, and this succession would be decidedly popular with the people of England. The abdicating king might revert to the dukedom of Cornwall, which provides a net income of about $350,000.

There is nothing in British law to prevent the king from marrying whomsoever he pleases, but no ruler of the country since Henry VIII has wedded a commoner. Court gossip in London says that Prime Minister Baldwin and the archbishop of Canterbury recently appealed to Edward for greater discretion in his relations with Mrs. Simpson and were hotly rebuffed by the king.

English newspapers imposed on themselves a voluntary censorship in this affair, but it has been broken by the Sunday Referee which prints an article declaring the king "may marry by spring," that this would result in postponement of the coronation, and that tradesmen have been insuring themselves against such a delay.

PERSONAL reports of Presidential and vice presidential candidates, made public by the senate campaign expenditures committee, show that President Roosevelt gave a $500 contribution to the Democratic county committee of Dutchess county, New York, his home, and had spent $10 for postage. Vice President John N. Garner reported that he had received no contributions and made no expenditures.

The Republican candidates, Gov. Alf M. Landon and Col. Frank Knox, reported they had had no personal receipts nor expenditures since nomination, their campaigns being financed by the Republican national committee.

In getting the nomination Landon received $163,480 and spent $164,572. Knox reported personally receiving $35,754 and spending $35,557 before nomination, and the Knox for President committee received $133,818 and spent $143,259.

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, reported his party had collected $5,614 and spent $6,504 to date.

John Zahn, National Greenback party candidate, reported he had received $1 and spent $2.50 toward his election.

At the same time the American Liberty league, nonpartisan, voluntarily submitted a financial report. The report showed that the organization had received $419,291 since January 1, and spent $161,651.

PROF. JEROME DAVIS of the Yale divinity school, nationally known liberal, is being dropped from the Yale university faculty, and charges that this is because of his "economic opinions." President Angell denies this, asserting that the budgetary situation was the sole reason for allowing Davis' contract to lapse. "No abridgement of academic freedom or liberty of speech is involved in this case," said Angell.

Davis is president of the American Federation of Teachers, chairman of the National Religion and Labor foundation and president of the Eastern Sociological conference. He said he thought it likely that the teachers' federation would take some action in his case.

GREAT BRITAIN is determined to keep out of the Communist-Fascist conflict if possible. Sir Oswald Mosley and his black-shirted Fascist followers have been trying to stir up trouble in England and in consequence the cabinet decided to put a ban on all political uniforms. It was expected that when parliament reassembled the government would announce drastic action to suppress the Mosley organization or at least to put a stop to its demonstrations and parades in Leeds, Manchester and the east end of London, where these Fascists like to create ugly feeling against Jews.

The public demand in England for action against the Fascists has been strengthened by the revelation that Mosley takes his advice from Berlin and Rome. It is reported, and widely believed, that Mosley's tactics of deliberately leading his Blackshirts into Jewish communities are based on advice given him by Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister.

AN AFTERMATH of the Lindbergh kidnapping case is the indictment of Ellis H. Parker, chief of detectives of Burlington county, N. J.; his son and three other men by a federal grand jury at Newark, N. J. The indictment charges the defendants took possession of Paul H. Wendel in New York, forced him to confess that he kidnapped Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., and held him in New Jersey while revisions were made in the confessions as the older Parker ordered.

The government charges the defendants hoped to reap "large rewards and sums of money" by publishing the "true story" of the faked solution of the celebrated case.

IT WAS announced at the White House that President Roosevelt had written to heads of 100 schools and colleges throughout the country asking the educators to determine whether courses at engineering schools are so "balanced" as to give students the necessary "vision and flexible technical capacity."

The "impact" of science on human life produces social dislocations, as well as advances in productive power, he held. He mentioned "unemployment, bankruptcies and relief." The engineer, he said, has a responsibility to help design "mechanisms to absorb the shocks of the impact of science."

FOR some time there have appeared in print stories about how Japan was establishing air and submarine bases in the former German islands of the South Pacific over which she holds a League of Nations mandate. It has been expected that the league's mandate commission would investigate these reports, and now Japan seeks to forestall such action by a formal report to the league in which she asserts she has "no fortifications, military or naval bases" in those islands. The Tokyo government says it is scrupulously observing that part of the mandate which forbids the use of the islands for military purposes.

Following establishment of a south seas bureau in April, 1932, all Japanese armed forces and men of war have been withdrawn gradually from the islands, the report says, adding that the natives of the islands never have been subjected to military training.

CHARGES filed in Washington by the federal trade commission accuse five trade associations of attempting to corner the automobile parts and accessories business. The groups, which were ordered to show cause why they should not be compelled to cease their alleged combine, are the National Standard Parts association, Detroit; the Motor and Equipment Wholesale association, Chicago; the Automotive Trade associations of Greater Kansas City, Mo.; Mississippi Valley Automotive Jobbers association and the Southwestern Jobbers association. Their officials also are defendants in the suit.

Northern Italy was shaken by earthquake shocks that were felt as far away as Yugoslavia and Austria. Twenty persons were killed by tumbling walls, and thirty others were injured.

NEW YORK ADOPTS "WELFARE OF MAN" AS THEME OF FAIR

$125,000,000 Exposition to Depict Building the World of Tomorrow

New York.—The New York World's Fair of 1939, which, according to Grover Whalen, President of the Fair, will be a $125,000,000 show, will have a theme—"Building the World of Tomorrow."

This was announced for the first time by Mr. Whalen, following the adoption of the theme and the design by the Board of Directors.

"The Theme," said Mr. Whalen, "encompasses the well-being of man, the betterment of life. It will be carried out in our exhibit zones, in our amusements, and in a beautiful 'Theme Tower.' We will display to the visitors all the goods, all the materials, all the resources and powers man has amassed, to the end that by studying them, one may learn how to plan and to attain a more admirable future."

The design, a simple and practical one that is motivated by consideration for the hundreds of thousands of people expected every day, divides the main section into ten zones. These zones will display exhibits of clothing, shelter, the arts, the basic industries, health, sustenance, recreation, government and co-operation, education, and public and social services. Each exhibit will be allocated to its proper zone. There will be no haphazard or scattered display. For the first time, visitors need not walk all over a fair grounds to see what they want to see, and only what they want to see.

Focal Exhibits
In each zone there will be a focal exhibit to explain, in dramatic fashion, the nature of the sector, its history, and its potential future.

The zones will be laid out around the "Theme Tower," in the heart of the main section, a 250 foot structure that will dominate the park. In this tower will be a panorama to show what strides America has made in the 150 years that have passed since George Washington strode into New York's old Federal Hall and took the oath of office as our first president.

The opening of the Fair, April 30, 1939, commemorates the 150th anniversary of that day.

This panorama will also show the interdependence of the 48 states born of the 13 original Colonies, and the interrelation of the big cities and the country districts of the United States.

The site of the Fair, Flushing Meadow Park, will be a permanent park after the Fair is done. It comprises 1216 acres—twice the space ever before given over to a Fair.

The work of converting the site into a Fair Grounds and a park requires engineering and artistic skill of the highest, the employment of hundreds of men, and the expenditure of millions of dollars.

Great mounds of debris must be shifted. Great depressions must be filled in. A river must be canalized and its tidal inlet dammed. Two great swamps must be dredged and made into beautiful lakes. Six thousand trees or more must be planted, tens of thousands of shrubs, millions of flowers. Roads must be built—and bridges must be built to span them. Sewers must be installed.

Cost to Run $125,000,000

The Fair officials estimate that $125,000,000 will have been spent before the first visitor is admitted to the grounds. The city and the state of New York and the Federal government are spending millions, and the buildings they erect will be permanent. The Fair Corporation will spend $30,000,000. Exhibitors, concessionaires, commercial groups, and other governmental agencies will spend at least $50,000,000. The city state and Federal governments will expend about $35,000,000 for buildings, exhibits and collateral improvements.

Mr. Whalen believes that at least 50,000,000 people will visit the Fair in 1939, and arrangements are being made to handle them all in comfort. Eight hundred thousand people can be well cared for on any one day.

Three subway lines, the Long Island Railroad, buses and autos will be able to bring 160,000 people to the Fair Grounds every hour when arrangements are completed; though, in order to do this, it will be necessary to extend one subway system a distance of two miles. Roads are being built, extended, or widened, for the streams of cars that will pour into the park from the Triborough and Queensborough bridges. There will be a huge bus terminal, parking spaces for 30,000 autos and facilities for trailers.

A boat basin is being prepared in Flushing Bay, and plans are under way to dredge a channel in the harbor for the use of deep-draft ships that will bring Fair visitors from all parts of the world. There is also some discussion as to the advisability of developing an airport for those coming to the Fair by plane.

Comfort the Keynote

There will be buses inside the Fair Grounds as well as outside so that those who do not wish to walk may have cheap transportation to any part of the grounds they desire to visit. There will be thousands of tree-shaded benches for those who are weary. There will be restaurants and amusements of various kinds all over the 1216 acres. Beside this there will be a mile-long stretch of amusements east of the main lagoon—amusements that will not imitate Coney Island or Broadway.

An amphitheatre for opera, plays of all kinds, and other forms of entertainment will be built on the shore of the big lagoon. And there will be water sports on the lagoon.

A children's village, a "Hall of Nations"—for the Fair will be international in flavor, and most every government in the world will be represented—and other buildings, have been submitted to the Board of Design. But as yet the style of architecture to be employed has not been decided. A competition open to all the young architects of Greater New York may establish the style. It is the opinion of the board that most of the structures will be of only one story, and will depend upon beauty and originality instead of height.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
By WILLIAM BRUCKART
NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington — During the recent bitter competition, both national political parties engaged in a good deal of palaver about the coal industry.

As usual, the politicians were patting the miners on the back, telling them what wonderful assets to the nation they are, and carrying their demagoguery further by criticism of the mine owners every now and then because it was popular with labor to attack employers. Altogether, it was a rather sorry spectacle and, I think, did not do credit to either side to any extent.

But in this report, I want to stress a very much less obvious phase of the problem than was made apparent in any of the electioneering. With all of the verbiage cast aside, with all of the political hoodwinking forgotten, there is a very deep and difficult problem in the coal industry. I think it can be summarized in one question: What is the future of coal, the coal industry, and the thousands of men who know no other source of livelihood than that which they eke out in the bowels of the earth?

This question, if proper analysis is made, encompasses more than the usual factors that operate in economics. It does that because of policies of the federal government, among states and among municipalities. Because of the attempts to influence votes, the whole question has got into politics and that of itself is ruinous, an obstacle to a scientific solution.

Not so many years ago coal mine owners and coal labor units had what amounted to a monopoly on our fuel supply. Then came oil, oil with all of the scientific development that followed in its wake. Despite this, operators and labor leaders continued to take their toll from the hapless user of coal for fuel, be that user a great factory or an individual consumer in furnace or round oak stove. But that was not all. Electricity came along with its constantly increasing automatic control. First, of course, in the larger communities and later it came to villages and farm homes. Still, the mine owners and the coal labor leaders followed an unwise course still, they continued to take their toll and before they fully realized what the circumstance was, they had succeeded by their acts in building up a desire on the part of millions of people to use some other sort of fuel. The end is not yet, and that is why the subject is most important at this stage of our history.

During the Roosevelt administration we have seen an impetus given to public ownership of power plants never equalled. I think much of this development has gone on in a hit-and-miss fashion and that eventually the public will pay for the shiftless methods employed in development, but that is beside the point. The present question is whether our nation is going to continue to expand public ownership in such a way as to ruin an industry that is as much a part of our basic economic structure as any other unit of our natural life. I think sometimes it goes beyond that for the reason that, unless people awaken to the fact that they are being hoodwinked to a considerable extent by public ownership propaganda, it is likely to spread and public ownership will become a frankenstein, a parasite on our body public.

When I referred to the destruction of a great industry, I had in mind the thought that the consequences will run in two directions. Yet, paradoxically as it may seem, they constitute a cycle. It works out like this: As the demand for coal declines, it is quite natural that production costs go up. When production costs go up, they eventually reach the point where a further diminution occurs in demand. When that decline in demand occurs, there is only one answer: Labor is thrown out of work because you cannot produce and have those products piled high in storage. It takes money to keep labor and machinery occupied. The coal itself, after being removed from the mines, represents money and it is subject as well to deterioration. So, the ultimate to be expected on this side of the picture is an industry dying of dry rot.

On the other side of the problem is an equally important factor at work. It takes an immense amount of capital, massed in corporate form, to maintain a going concern whether that concern be coal mining, railroading or any other of our great industries. These industries operate largely on funds obtained through the sale of stocks and bonds of the corporation. But it has always been true, and human nature shows no signs of changing, that capital is not attracted to, it does not seek investment in, a declining industry. There you have a possibility at least of insufficient funds to carry through for the coal mining industry until it can readjust itself to the new place it must occupy in our economic structure. It will occupy a new place because it will readjust itself. It has not done so yet and the sequence of this condition is, in opinion, coal mine labor is, for some very hard sledding in the next decade, notwithstanding the honeyed words of the politicians.

Now, to turn to the part that government plays in bringing about present conditions. I have attempted to show how great on the part of both capital and labor was responsible in a measure for building up what amounts to ill-will among many coal consumers. But the industry itself, I rather hold the opinion that government is as much responsible for conditions as the industry itself, and when I say government, I must limit my reference to political demagogues. They always have been shortsighted and they are still shortsighted. They have been and they are now willing to sacrifice great masses of men and money for personal political gain of an entirely transitory character.

I have said before in these columns that the country is being sadly kidded—it is almost tragic—by the wonders of such parasitic organizations as TVA. The public ownership crowd have had a willing leader in President Roosevelt and his hangers-on have promoted his policies of public ownership without being honest as to the ultimate goal, or the eventual effect.

It is not alone that there have been millions wasted in the development of the Tennessee valley electrical mirage. It is not so much that taxpayers throughout the country will be paying a bill and paying it over and over again, that causes me to complain. It is not so much that the Tennessee Valley Authority will never be economically operated or become self-sustaining that brings this outburst. It is the fact that when a government, national, state or local, leads the way in this direction, it wields an influence upon a certain percentage of our population. Since public ownership advocates, in many instances, plain socialism, where in control of these agencies such as TVA, it is perfectly natural that they present to the taxpayers only the most rosy side of the story. They do not disclose to the taxpayers the adverse, the costly side, of the situation. Naturally then, hundreds of thousands of people believe that government can do this sort of thing better than private enterprise. They become convinced that private initiative has been turned into a spigot through which individual pocketbooks are drained. They do not realize that their pocketbooks are being drained much more heavily through public ownership by means of the taxes they take from you and me and everyone else. That is the sad story, made worse by the fact that through nearly four years the Washington government has been encouraging people to believe public ownership propaganda and distrust and destroy private investment.

Recent Treasury figures show that the Resettlement Administration has paid approximately $27,750,000 of its total appropriation of $134,518,000 for administrative expenses. That is, the organization which is the pride and joy of Professor Resford Guy Tugwell has paid that amount of money to job holders in trying to carry out the professor's impossible dream.

While the sum shown as used for administrative expenses by Professor Tugwell is small, compared to the billions of total waste in the Roosevelt administration, the proper way to consider this circumstance is on a percentage basis. If you take your pencil you can calculate that about 20 per cent or one-fifth of all the funds appropriated to Professor Tugwell for resettlement, has been used in management of his plan. It may be a fraction under 20 per cent, but it is so close that even the fastidious Mr. Tugwell would not quarrel about the difference.

One-fifth of an appropriation that is designed theoretically at least to serve for relief purposes is entirely too much. It is not as great perhaps as has happened with one or two other relief appropriations, but it has always been claimed that the Tugwell scheme was planned to re-establish those who have been resettled on a permanent basis. That is to say, it was planned that the bulk of the money should be used in providing those people with a fresh start in life, but I cannot see where they are getting it a lot of job holders sit around in Washington offices or in offices in various states using up one-fifth of the total lay out of cash.

The cherry tree, being on the side of the hill, was a vantage point. Below the house, smothered in its ivy, lay without a sign of habitation. Beyond it the brook was marked out by the double line of weeping willows which had been planted on its banks, but no glint of water came through the green to prove its existence.

Directly ahead lay a gentle slope of meadow; and as Bryn's eyes fell upon it he caught quite distinctly a flash of blue across the green.

He blinked, started at it, stretched himself incautiously to make sure of what he saw. It had most certainly been a gown. He climbed down hastily from the tree and started off across the garden.

He came at last into the natural clearing which had once been the bottom of the stream; it was dotted over with clumps of small bushes, covered with a carpet of green velvet. He stopped and surveyed it for a moment before his eyes caught again that blue flash . . . ah, there she was.

Deborah was kneeling on the side of a little knoll, with a round blue bowl beside her. For a moment she did not see him approaching, so intent was she on her task. She was picking wild strawberries, leaning forward to separate them from their stems, dropping them one by one into the bowl. She was dressed in a short-sleeved blue dress, perhaps a little faded, but still extremely becoming.

She looked up, startled, her eyes wide and dark.

"Good-morning," Bryn offered cheerfully. "Did something happen to your clock, or do you usually get up at half-past five?"

She dropped a berry into the bowl. She lifted her stained little finger-tips and looked at them. "I usually get up," she replied.

Bryn dropped down comfortably on the grass a yard away.

She gathered her skirts together around her knees, rose, and moved farther away. "I don't think there are any berries left where you are," she remarked. "But you ought to look before you get down on the ground."

"I did look," Bryn replied. "You may not have seen me, Deborah, but I looked. My eye is very quick. I pride myself on it. To see one of nature's jewels shining among the dank and ugly grasses is one of the things I'm best at."

Across the knoll she regarded him steadily. "It sounds very poetic," she said at last.

"Deborah," Bryn began.

The color flashed back into her cheeks. "Must you call me that?" she demanded. "I didn't ask you to call me that. You haven't any right."

"I was about to discuss that very question myself," Bryn replied. "I was about to ask you if we couldn't come to some sort of compromise."

"Compromise?"

"We got on very well on the trip up here. You didn't seem to mistrust me. But after we got here—yesterday at lunch, and last night at dinner, and in the drawing room later—you must admit it was difficult."

She lifted her chin. "You were so familiar," she said proudly.

"Familiar?" he repeated.

"I don't think it was necessary. You . . . you talked as if . . . you looked at me . . . you . . . and you put your arm around Grandmother when you said good-night. I saw you."

"I couldn't help it," Bryn said mournfully. "She's a very nice grandmother, after all, isn't she? And I never saw one like her before. If you can imagine it, Deborah, I never had a grandmother of my own."

"I didn't like it. I won't have it. It's bad enough to . . . to deceive her at all, but I have to do that for her own good. I have to do what I've done. If I'd come back not married . . . and told her about . . . him, then we'd have had to tell her everything. How poor we are, and how desperate. And she would worry so much about me it would kill her. There wouldn't be anything ahead. This way, there's at least the money, and by the end of the year . . . but I won't take advantage of her. I can't bear to have you making so much of her when you don't mean it, when you're not honest."

"Don't you believe in love at first sight, Deborah?"

She sprang up and faced him. "That's what Gary said you'd start talking about next," she accused. "I think you might have better taste, if nothing else!"

"I suppose he compared me to a leech. I suppose he couldn't understand that a young man could enter into a business agreement with a young lady on perfectly clear and straightforward grounds, emotion having no part thereof?"

She raised her eyes. "Just a minute ago you started talking about . . . love at first sight!"

"My child, I was speaking of your grandmother. I intended to explain that my feeling for her was, in spite of your assumption to the contrary, honest. I was about to mention her gentleness, and her delicacy, and a few other qualities which would win the heart of a stone image, and to explain to you that any feeling of tenderness which I displayed toward her was quite sincere."

She was gazing into his face. A slow wave of color, quite unlike the angry flush of a short time ago, began to spread up from her throat over her face. She dropped her eyes.

"As for you," Bryn went on calmly, "it would be most presumptuous for me to have any feeling for you whatever. You are, in a sense, my employer. I recognize that. I have no idea of presuming on that relationship. Nothing could be farther from my mind. However—it might be easier for both of us, under the circumstances, if we came to a definite agreement as to my duties and my attitude. Obviously we cannot go on as we began yesterday, or all our plans and sacrifices so far are wasted."

She had turned away and was surveying the eastern horizon. Now she faced him. "Did you make sacrifices to do this for me?" she demanded.

"Nothing of any particular importance," he replied calmly. "Nothing that will not be far outweighed by the benefits I will receive from it. However, a year is a year."

She considered. "I'm afraid I was very thoughtless."

She began to smile. "I suppose there's even another girl somewhere out in the world," she said with a breath of relief. "I am a stupid creature. I might have guessed. It's because we're so self-centered here. To put it perfectly plainly, you have been exerting yourself to the utmost to live up to your bargain, and I've been ridiculous about it. Haven't I? I'm sorry. It's going to be . . ." she bent hastily and lifted her bowl. "I think I have enough," she went on.

Bryn took the bowl. They walked along leisurely toward the house. The sun had suddenly thrown off his veils of cloud and emerged in glory.

Entering the kitchen together, they found Gary there. "This is certainly an early-rising household," remarked Bryn. "Up with the birds," must be its motto."

Bryn put down his coffee cup, Gary having served them in the sitting room. He reached into his pocket mechanically for his cigarette case. "Mind if I smoke?"

Across the low round table, Deborah shook her head.

"You told me . . . and Mr. Holworthy told me, too, that . . . that a divorce is easy to get nowadays."

"Very easy."

"I didn't ask you," she went on slowly. "Something I should have asked. In Grandmother's day a divorce was dreadful. I'd scarcely heard them mentioned. A divorce was a disgraceful thing. Tell me, is it a disgraceful thing to be divorced? Does it . . . mark one?"

"We can manage it so quietly that no one will know you've been married," Deborah.

"I wasn't thinking exactly of myself," she said, faint color in her cheeks. "Nobody knows me. It wouldn't matter. I was thinking of you. I was wondering if the . . . the girl you . . . that is, the girl you care about won't mind rather dreadfully. I don't quite understand these things," she hurried on. "But I think if I were she I should mind."

"Did I say I cared about a girl?" Bryn inquired, in surprise.

"Perhaps I saw for myself that there must be one. You spoke of sacrifices. You couldn't have meant your career, because you told me yourself it was at a standstill, and would be assisted by this agreement of ours. And . . . I saw quite a lot of other young men," she said, scarlet, but determined, "and it seems to me that you and your friend, Mr. Forbes, were much the . . . the most attractive. So there must be a girl. I am glad, of course. It will make Gary feel much better. But has the world become so liberal-minded that she won't mind your taking this way to earn money for her?" Her eyes lifted to his, waiting.

Bryn considered. If he said there was no girl, Deborah might take fright again. Gary, thoroughly conscious of the amount of loveliness and charm and innocence which Deborah possessed, would certainly do what he could to spoil this friendliness and trust which were beginning to spring to life.

"I must tell Tubby what you said about him," he said lightly. "He will be extremely flattered, as I am. And grateful. As for your other question—I can assure you that no complication will arise."

She had begun to speak, perhaps to question him further, when a bell tinkled inside the kitchen. She rose hastily. "That's Grandmother," she explained, and hurried down the steps to the narrow side door into the kitchen. Bryn sat down again and lit another cigarette, thinking.

He recalled himself with a start, and got up hastily. He lifted the table, dishes and all, and carried it down to the kitchen door. He set it inside, went in, and drew it across the big room to the long white porcelain sink beneath the windows. Gary was there, with a big, clean apron tied over his trousers, washing up his own breakfast dishes. Deborah was not in sight.

"It's a beautiful day, Gary."

"Yes, sir. We've days like this all through the summer. It gets very hot in the middle of the day in August, but the nights are always cool."

Bryn picked up a dish-towel. "What are you going to do today, Gary? Can you give me some kind of an idea of your routine? I've got to have something to do, too."

Gary glanced up at him from under his bushy brows. "There's enough to do," he said slowly. "But it's not likely the kind of work you've been used to."

ABOUT THE DEPRESSION CYCLE

Discussing the fatalistic theory that a ten-year cycle of depressions is inevitable, A. K. Bradley of Tioiga, Texas, gives his version of the how and why of the last two in a letter to The Dallas News from which we quote:

"Recalling the man-manipulated depression of 1920-21, the Federal Reserve Bank had overloaned the banks, and the banks had overloaned their customers to buy Liberty Bonds, and for all kinds of old and new enterprises. The bank with a capital of $25,000 borrowed $80,000 from the Federal Reserve Bank and without warning the Federal Reserve Bank called in loans in cash. The bank had the money loaned out. They had $25,000 in Liberty Bonds, which the Federal Reserve Bank would not receive, forcing the bank to sell at $85 for cash. Most of the loans were on good collateral and not due. Holders of Liberty Bonds refused to sell for $85 what they paid $100 for a few months before. A wild scramble followed to sell something for cash; result, markets were demoralized and general ruin followed.

"All of this could have been avoided if the Federal Reserve Bank through cupidity or ignorance had not deliberately overloaned the small banks, which in turn overloaned their customers, all concerned apparently blissfully ignorant of the inevitable result. Innocently the Federal Reserve Bank seemed not to know what would happen when they arbitrarily called in loans and shut off credits, as they did. The Federal Reserve Board has just increased the reserve requirements 50 per cent. The average reserve now will be 15 per cent on deposits, instead of 10 per cent as formerly. This makes money scarcer by reducing the volume of currency.

"The power of the Federal Reserve Bank to shut off credits and call loans as it did in 1920-21 and 1929 is a potential menace and accounts for two of the 'Viscious Cycles'."

We might add, by way of comment, that until this deadly power of the Federal Reserve Banks over credit is stripped from them by stripping them of their monopoly of issuing the country's circulating currency, and that power restored to a people's government and used for the service of the people, depressions will continue to recur, not on any arbitrary cycle but at the will and pleasure of our financial masters, ever so often as they deem it expedient to take their sheep to a shearing.

THE WAY OF SALVATION.

By Rev. J. T. Horgor.

ARTICLE NO. 3.

In the first and second articles we spoke of the fall of man and his ruined condition under sin. We turn to Rom. 3:23, and find, "For ALL have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." And in the latter part of verse 19, we read, "that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. By this, and many other scriptures, we learn that every soul that is not saved by the blood of Christ, stands before God already condemned, awaiting death forever to seal their damnation. Therefore, our soul is the first and greatest subject for consideration in life.

The first thing is, how are we to get out of this awful condition? Can we, or any other creature on earth, forgive our sins, so as to remove the sense of the just condemnation? Is there a discovery or an invention by man in all the earth that will so cleanse the soul of its sin-curse and moral pollution, that the mind and heart becomes thoroughly conscious of its cleansed condition? And again, where can we find that which will take out of our hearts the vain, foolish, excessive love for this world's treasures and pleasures so that we will love things in proportion to their true value as to TIME and ETERNITY? Then tell me, where we shall obtain the true spirit of honesty, that would rather give our fellowman the best end of a deal, than to beat him out of a penny or a thousand dollars? Or where shall we find the source of Divine love that we might have a fountain thereof planted in our hearts, by which we might meet the demands of the great commandment, "Thou shalt love the Lord with all thy heart and all thy soul and thy might," and thy neighbor as thyself? Well, the above is beyond our ability to provide; therefore, God laid hold upon Jesus-Mighty to save, to redeem us to God.

Now, God's law is based on the principles of eternal justice, and, therefore, immutable, unchangeable and eternal. So, when He said to Adam, "In the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die," it was true. And he and all his posterity died to everything that was right, pure and holy; and became a subject of mortal death, by which, if unchanged, he passes "into the fire prepared for the Devil and his angels". But the love of God, moved in mercy and tender compassion, sent Jesus Christ to take our place as a condemned and lost race.

Isaiah 53:5, tells us: "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities"; 6th verse, "All we, like sheep, have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." 2 Cor. 5:21, "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." In 1 Pet. 2:24, "Who his own self bore our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sin, should live unto righteousness; by whose stripes ye were healed."

Note that the two last Scriptures quoted tell us, first, Jesus became sin for us; that is, died in our stead, that we might escape our condemnation, and hence become the righteousness of God in him; that is, by the imparted grace of Jesus, through the power of the Holy Spirit. Then in the second, St. Peter tells us that Jesus bore our sins in his own body that we might be dead to sin. Note the expression! DEAD TO SIN, that we might LIVE unto RIGHTEOUSNESS. This tallies with the statement of the angel who said, "And thou shalt call his name JESUS, for he shall save his people FROM their sins"—not IN their sins.

After many years careful study of the plan, principles, process and character to be formed in order to escape the lake that burns with fire and brimstone (Rev. 19:20 and 20:15) and gain the Heaven described in Rev. 21:1-7, I have come to the conclusion that it will require a soul completely cleansed, made righteous, pure and holy before it leaves this body. For the Scriptures everywhere teach that we are to be saved by a faith that believes in and seeks after and obtains the righteousness of God, now, here, while we are still in a state of probation on earth.

Many seem to think that because God is a loving, kind and merciful Heavenly Father, that He will not send them to hell. True, He willingly will not; but it is SIN that disqualifies for Heaven, and drives one into the fire prepared for the Devil and his angels. God's love and mercy have called forth the powers of Heaven and earth to prepare and proclaim the way of Redemption; and other mercies may be expected ONLY as we accept our salvation in Christ.

LAGOON.

Creep, silver waters, life of the lagoon
And flash the mirrored highlights of the noon

Across the shifting surface, near the shore,
Impress sun patterns on your glassy floor.

The varied scales of many, forest birds
Wind whispers through the pines—your daily words.

Your heart has cradled images of trees—
Your spirit, all the forest mysteries.

The dark extends an elbow . . . reaching far—
A finger points towards the evening star.

Creep, silver water, life of the lagoon—
Reveal the golden promise of the moon!

The question of which of two defunct nations rates precedence over the other has risen to plague military and naval officers responsible for solving such problem at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition. Throughout the Exposition military and naval forces here will be involved in ceremonies connected with the six flags that have flown over Texas. The United States flag of course comes first. Then that of the Texas Republic followed by that of the Southern Confederacy. The Mexican flag, the same as that adopted by Mexico in 1820 ranks behind the Stars and Bars. Then comes the problem. Both France and Spain, once kingdoms, are now republics and there is a wide difference between the present flags of those countries and those that flew over Texas more than 100 years ago. Authorities are about to solve the question on the basis of Spain's better and longer claim on Texas.

Trousdale of 1935 Rice Board; George Slaughter of 1935 Corn-Hog Board; A. H. Montgomery of 1935 Wheat Board and George Chance of the 1935 Cotton Board.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT?

THE WAGE-TAX FRAUD.

The Roosevelt tax on wages goes into effect the first of next year. Industrial employers are required by the terms of that tax to take something out of the pay envelope of every employee every pay day. To get the working men acquainted with the idea of paying an income tax the rate next year will only be 1 per cent. But the law provides for subsequent increases in the tax up to 3 per cent. For a man getting $100 per month the wage tax will amount to $12. Eventually the tax on that amount of wages is to be $36.

The excuse for the tax is that it is to raise a fund to provide for working men in their old age. But that is just a catch. The law makes a provision for spending the money as fast as it is received. When the time comes for paying pensions the fund will have only promises of the government, its own promises to pay. And there will be no money to meet the promises except as it is raised by taxation.

The mechanics of the fund are interesting. The taxes collected are not to be paid into the general fund. That would be too obvious. The fund is paid into a special account. The money in the account is thereupon invested in Government bonds. But a bond isn't property like a farm or a factory. It is merely a promise to pay. It is an evidence of what has already been spent. When the Government collects taxes and takes the money, giving its own promises to pay in the future, it has left a fund in name only. The assets are gone.

The government receives the money as a trustee and then acts as if the money were its own. As money accumulates in the fund it is exchanged for bonds. The money is then spent for necessary Government expenditures and for boondoggling.

That is the end of the money. But there remains the promise to pay the money back into the account so that the promised pensions can be paid. How is the money to be obtained to put back into the fund? By the only method the Government has for raising money, taxation. The wage tax, thus turns out to be just another tax. The proceeds are to be spent at once. And the promised benefits are to be met by taxes paid by the next generation.

Thus this generation will deprive itself of comforts to pay taxes in the belief that it is providing itself with pension money. But the next generation will have to raise the money for the purpose because this generation obligated the future to pay and was tricked out of the money paid in.

The Roosevelt wage tax employs precisely the same tomfoolery. In pretending to offer security for working men in their old age it is a farce. It's a scheme to get money for New Deal extravaganzas. PROVISION IS MADE FOR LOOTING THE FUND BEFORE A DOLLAR IS COLLECTED. WHEN THE DAY COMES FOR PAYING PENSIONS IT WILL BE FULL OF PAPER WHICH PEOPLE WILL HAVE TO REDEEM BY BEING TAXED ALL OVER AGAIN. The Roosevelt wage tax fraud should be stricken from the statutes as soon as Congress convenes. Alfred M. Landon has pledged himself to secure a repeal of the law if he is elected.—Chicago Tribune.

HARLOW, CHARLIE CHAN, WILL ROGERS NAMES AT LOCAL THEATRE COMING WEEK.

Popular names are headlined in the three Colonial films for this week. Showing currently is M.-G.-M.'s drama of the World War, "Suzy", with Jean Harlow, Franchot Tone and Cary Grant in the leading roles. Miss Harlow is an American show girl stranded in London, who meets and marries Franchot Tone, only to have him shot by a spy on their wedding night. Believing him dead, she runs away to Paris where she meets Grant whom she marries. Miss Harlow meets Tone, Grant becomes entangled with Benita Hume, the spy, and it takes a deal of exciting melodrama to untangle the involved affair.

"Charlie Chan at the Race Track" with Warner Oland is one of the best of the Chan series, scheduled for Monday and Tuesday. The absorbing murder-mystery has a sprinkling of comedy provided mostly by Keye Luke, as Chan's son, who imagines himself to be as good a detective as his father. The scenes of the horse races are said to be extremely exciting, particularly the race in the end, where an attempt is made to kill the favorite horse.

"Steamboat 'Round the Bend" at the Colonial Wednesday and Thursday brings Will Rogers in the role of an itinerant quack doctor who buys a steamboat on which he expects to lead a lazy life. But unusual events change his course and he finds himself playing up and down the Mississippi on his steamboat. In the cast are Anne Shirley, John McGuire, Irving Cobb, Eugene Pallette, Stepin Fetchit and others.

USED BY COURTESY THE OWL.

CAPT. ROTHE RETURNS PUNT 52 YARDS FOR TOUCHDOWN.

The Owls played their first district game of the season Friday afternoon and defeated the Uvalde Coyotes by a score of 6-0. The Owls kicked off the Uvalde 15-yard line, where the ball was taken and returned to the 25-yard marker. On the second play the Coyotes gained about seventeen yards, bringing the ball up to their forty-five yard line. After gaining nothing in three successive attempts the Coyotes were forced to punt. (Capt. Rothe took the ball on the Owls' 35-yard line and returned it nine yards. After three plays on which the Owls gained very little, Danie punted to the Uvalde fifteen yard line, where the ball was taken and returned ten yards. After failing to make a first down Uvalde again punted to Rothe. The remainder of this quarter consisted of an exchange of punts, and ended scoreless, although the ball was on the Coyotes 50-yard marker when the quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter the Coyotes punted out of danger. This entire quarter was played in Uvalde territory, the Owls keeping the Coyotes' backs to the wall. Although Hondo made several attempts at the Uvalde goal line the half ended scoreless with the ball in the Owls' possession on the Coyotes 25-yard line.

Hondo started the second half by again kicking off to the Coyotes. After several plays on which they gained little the Coyotes punted to Capt. Rothe on the Owls' 48-yard line. The Owls, however, gained little and after three downs were again forced to punt. On first down the Coyotes punted the ball back to the Owls' 40-yard line. Behind beautiful interference on the part of his team Rothe, and a splendid display of broken-field running on his part, Rothe returned this punt 60 yards for the only touchdown of the entire game. His kick from placement, however, was wide.

Hondo again kicked off to the Coyotes, this time to their 10-yard line, where it was taken and returned to the Uvalde 25-yard stripe. On the first play Uvalde went off tackle for twenty yards. However, in their next two tries they gained little and on third down punted to the Owls' 27-yard line where the ball was killed by Uvalde. After the Owls had made a first down, Uvalde intercepted a pass on the Hondo 43-yard line. The Coyotes retained possession of the ball for the remainder of this quarter, and held it on the Owls' 21-yard line as the period ended.

As the last quarter began, Uvalde advanced the ball to the Owls' 2-yard line. On second down with inches to go for a touchdown, the Coyotes fumbled, and the ball was recovered by Rucker, the Owls' alert center. Danie then punted out of danger for the Owls. The Uvalde safety man fumbled this punt, and again Hondo recovered. After a series of first downs, and aided by the recovery of another fumble, and a penalty against the Coyotes, Hondo advanced the ball to the Uvalde 5-yard marker. At this point, however, the ball was turned over to the Coyotes, who in turn punted out to their own 30-yard marker. At this point Hondo was penalized twenty yards. However, with a series of line plays the Owls advanced the ball to the Coyotes' 28-yard line, where the Coyotes again took possession of the ball only to have their second pass intercepted by Rucker who ran the ball back 18 yards before being tackled. The game ended with the ball in the Owls' possession on the Uvalde twenty-two yard line. Final score: Hondo Owls 6, Uvalde Coyotes 0.

Starring along with Captain Rothe for the Owls was Monroe Rucker, Hondo's ever-alert center.

While the Owls and Coyotes were battling on the local field, another game of interest to football fans in this district was going on. This was the game between Del Rio and Sabinal, the former winning by a score of 32-0. As you know, the Owls meet the Del Rio Wildcats on Friday night, November 6, at Del Rio. The Owls will find the above-mentioned team a very strong one, one which will be very difficult to subdue.

The Owls' next game will be played Thursday afternoon on the local field when they meet the Devine Warhorses. This game will be played on Thursday instead of on Friday as scheduled in order to allow the Devine football players to go with the other Devine students on a trip to the Texas Centennial over the week-end. Every student should see this game which will be the last game of the season to be played on Barry Field, unless the Owls win the championship of the northern half of this district which will entitle them to play the champion of the southern half for the district crown.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL.

The plaza in downtown Hondo has been selected as the meeting place for the weird witches who will hold their annual convention at 7:30 o'clock, Saturday night, October 31. The Parent-Teachers' Association is making it possible for the school children and citizens of Hondo to help these fanciful creatures of the air celebrate the one night of the year that is given to them.

General Admission.

The general admission to the grounds where the witches hold sway will be five cents for adults. Children will be admitted free. Each person paying a general admission will be given a ticket bearing a number. The stubs from these tickets will be placed in a container from which will be drawn one number—the lucky number. To the holder of this number will be given the grand prize—some useful electrical appliance.

A great variety of entertainments is being planned. Five cents will be the admission for each of the attractions. Extra "buffaloes" can buy their owners candy, hot coffee, a slice of cake, a hamburger, a cold drink, or a sandwich.

Play Bingo.

The Bingo tables promise to be one of the most attractive games of the carnival. A multitude of prizes are to be given away—all useful articles, ranging from canned goods to automobile oils, including glass ware, candies, dry goods, vases and the like.

Midget Village.

From all appearances the midget village (sponsored by the first grade) will be one of the most popular features of the Hallowe'en affair. The little folk have some lively entertainment for those who visit their show.

For Men Only.

If this attraction is all that it's "cracked up" to be, not a man on the plaza will miss it. (We really blush to mention it.) It is reported that Madame Corinne, the famous apple dancer (you saw her in the "Streets of All Nations" at Dallas) or some understudy of hers will be here "in person".

Cat Stand.

There will be many games of skill, including "Ringing the goat's horns", "Shooting the five wise birds", and "Throwing at the cats". Just wait until you see the cats!

Added attractions will be the grab bag, the fish pond (where the fish are guaranteed to bite), the roulette wheel, the fortune teller, and the novelty stand.

Owlets—F. F. A. DANCE.

The Hondo Chapter of the F. F. A. held its first dance of the year at the fair grounds Saturday night. The music was furnished by Henry's Night Hawks.

Those present included: Misses Wilma Spratt, Evelyn Knopp, Billie Merritt, Ginger Fusselman, Jo Reilly, Gwen Gray, Betty Thurman, Zonie Taylor, Florence Zuberbauler, Sis Acritt, Susie Muennink, Sis Meyer, Elizabeth Reynolds, Kathleen Reily, Evelyn Ruth Dawson, Zelda Schneiders, Wanda Redmond, and Bonita Speece, Messrs. Clifford Sadler, Tom Laxson, J. H. Rothe, Ep. Finger, Tommie Danie, Babo Windrow, Jack Speece, Glen and Elmo Pope, Bud Chapman, Edmund Ney, Harvey Renken, Charles Finger, Milton Bohmfalk, Harry Kollman, Nonnie Jennings, James Gray, Henry and Murrel Stiegler, Fred Bader, Harold Moehring, Marvin Koch and Bonnard Rothe.

Owlets—QUEEN OF CARNIVAL TO BE ELECTED.

Each of the classes in Hondo High School met at noon Monday for the purpose of electing its candidate for the Queen of the Hallowe'en Carnival which is to be sponsored by the P. T. A. Saturday night. The following candidates were elected:

Senior Class—Ginger Fusselman. Junior Class—Evelyn Knopp. Sophomore Class—Sis Meyer. Freshman Class—Bonita Speece.

Each student may vote as many times as he wishes as long as he brings an old pair of shoes and one penny for every ten votes. Miss Shaw, the fifth grade teacher, will have charge of the votes. The candidate receiving the greatest number of votes will be notified that she has been elected queen sometime Saturday, and the other three candidates will be her attendants.

Owlets—

Thou hast given so much to us, give one thing more, a grateful heart. —George Herbert.

BONFIRE A SUCCESS.

The bonfire last Wednesday was a great success. Practically every high school student and teacher was present and everyone had a good ole rousing time.

The yell leaders took charge and the students yelled as long and loud as they possibly could. After the pep rally all shirt-tails were pulled out and the big parade was begun. Torches and posters such as HOIL'EM FOR A LOSS and GO HONDO GO were carried by some, lending the right spirit to the occasion. No one knows whether or not all of this yelling and singing helped the football boys win the game Friday but we hope it did a little good and we also hope that we might be able to have more Bonfires.

Owlets—HOME ECONOMICS NEWS.

There is a possibility of the Home Economics Club becoming the Future Home Makers. This organization is more closely related with the Future Farmer's of America than the H. E. Club and many of the girls are in favor of this change. It will be decided at the next regular meeting whether or not it will be made.

There is something else in the air—a 4-H Club. This club will be more suited to the girls living in the country, but it might prove interesting to everyone. It will not interfere with the H. E. Club or Future Home Makers, as it might be, but will aid the girls in their home projects. There is really not much known about this club now, but further details will be given later.

Owlets—CHAPEL PROGRAM.

The Choral Club gave the second assembly program of the year today. The program was worked out in play-form. TIME: after dinner; SETTING: a girl's dormitory. Jo Reilly imitated the dean of the college, whom no one liked, and in turn introduced the musical numbers. They were as follows: AN OLD FASHIONED GARDEN, by the freshmen-sophomore quartette; IN THE HEART OF THE HILLS by the junior-senior sextette; and AUTUMN and JUST FOR TODAY by the entire choral club.

Owlets—

HALLOWE'EN COSTUME PARADE TO BE GIVEN SATURDAY.

On Saturday, October 31, at 6 P. M. there will be a Hallowe'en costume parade through the business section of town. All students in grades one through seven may be in.

Cash prizes will be given for the best costumed girl and for the best costumed boy.

The meeting place for the parade will be announced later.

Remember the time! At six o'clock Saturday—just before the Hallowe'en Carnival.

Owlets—THE S. S. CLUB MEETS.

The Strictly Soph Club met last Wednesday evening at the home of Elizabeth Reynolds. A party was planned and other business matters were discussed. Refreshments of chocolate and strawberry ice cream and cookies were served to Helen Burgin, Evelyn Ruth Dawson, Sis Acritt, Susie Muennink, and the hostess, Elizabeth Reynolds.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Helen Burgin.

Owlets—FRESHMAN CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS.

At a meeting of the students of the Freshman Class the following officers were elected:

President: Charles Finger. Vice-President: John Henry Jennings.

Secretary: Arthur Lacy. Treasurer: Elmer Joe Leinweber. Reporter: Mary Louise Haegelin.

Owlets—PREFERRED WAY.

"How would you like your eggs served, sir?" "Is there any difference in price?" "None whatever, sir." "Then serve it on a thick slice of ham."—Grit.

Owlets—ANSWERING THE QUESTION.

Speaker (at class exercises): "And what is there that stands between the college graduate and the top of the ladder?"

Voice from Rear: "The Ladder!" —Christian Science Monitor.

Owlets—FROM THE RECORDS—

There are seventy-one boys and seventy-eight girls enrolled in Hondo High School this year.

Owlets—

You have done a kindness, another has received it. Why be as the foolish, and hanker after something more—the credit for the kindness or the recompense?—Marcus Aurelius.

POLICY OF PLENTY.

No matter how much official explaining is done or how many apologies are made for things that have gone wrong, the record confirms the truth, often expressed, that no man or bureau of men is wise enough to plan, regiment and dictate the policies and practices of the American farm from Washington. When we had abundance of the most precious forms of wealth possible to create we made little of the bountiful hand of Providence. We prized only commercial profits and, with 12,000,000 people hungry and cold, destroyed the good food that would feed them and the fiber that would clothe them. We did more. We destroyed brooding pigs and cattle, and stopped the production of crops to cause and maintain a scarcity of foods and clothing. By economic manipulation we destroyed our foreign markets for farm products and then, to bolster up foreign trade, opened the doors of our markets to foreign farm products. Our customs house records show the results. Cattle and meat, wheat and corn, eggs and milk, butter and cheese from the farms of foreign nations are flowing into our markets to compete with and replace the products of our home farms. Secretary Wallace advises the importation of wheat and corn to check rising feed prices. Bad as this is, it is little compared with the shortage we would have if the Supreme Court had not cut out the triple-A powers to curtail production. The past can be charged to ignorance and bad judgment. But to say the least, we are certainly entitled to an assurance that the error is admitted and that the policy of the proponents of scarcity has been changed to a return of the policy of plenty.—Rural New Yorker.

The Centennial Horse Show in Fort Worth is one of the two horse shows in the United States this year offering cash premium, exceeding $20,000. The other is the Kansas City American Royal. Moreover, totaling $25,150 place the Fort Worth event—October 2 to 7—above such long established shows as the Chicago International, the New York National, Kentucky State Fair, St. Louis National and those of the Midwest fair circuit. Texas is making by far the most attractive bid of any State for owners of saddle and harness horses since Dallas is holding a show, September 23 to 27, with cash prizes of $12,000. As Dallas and Fort Worth are only 30 miles apart and there are only six days between the two shows, in effect here is virtually one event with combined premium lists of $35,150, which is $9,150 more than the American Royal cash premiums.

Floyd Mitchell of Wildorado in Garza county reports that he harvested 1,600 bushels of wheat from 100 acres last month, according to R. T. Alexander, Jr., county agricultural agent. "This is as large a yield as has been reported in Oldham county for this year, as a percent of the wheat failed entirely while the remaining acres yielded only a few bushels because of drought", Alexander reported. Mitchell says this year's yield is the fact that the land was worked continuously on a rotation last year and was drilled the same way last fall so as to conserve all moisture that has fallen in the last 12 months. In addition, two short terraces were built where a small draw enters his field and these terraces have tended to spread the water from the draw all over the field.

The only pair of pure-bred Brahman calves ever born at an exposition are now at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition, where they were born recently. Duchess, world's grand champion Brahman cow, is the mother of one, a bull, and Koochie, world's reserve champion Brahman cow, is the mother of the other, a heifer. Both are owned by J. D. Hudgins of Hungerford, Texas, whose 30,000 acre ranch has 3,200 Brahman of the Guzera type, considered the finest for cross breeding purposes. Brahman are odd looking hump-shouldered cattle from India where they are held sacred. They are immune from fever, tick and other illnesses that beset the better known breeds of American cattle and their off-spring inherit this quality in cross breeding.

Prefer Newspaper Advertising--

Detroit.—Chevrolet's achievement of all-time sales records in 1936, under a policy which made newspapers the front line of the company's advertising offensive, has dictated the continuance of that policy in 1937, and especially in the announcement of the forthcoming new models. This statement by C. F. Fiskin, advertising manager, was a feature of an all-day party which Chevrolet held for 300 newspapermen this week.

"The 1937 models are the finest Chevrolet has ever built," said Mr. Fiskin. "And the advertising behind them measures up to the product itself. Last year and for several years back, we have relied primarily upon the newspaper space to get our message across to the public. In light of the amazing sales achievements of 1936, it is hardly necessary to justify to you our intention of adhering to that policy this year. The newspaper will be the foundation of our advertising effort."

Efficient ADVERTISING is an essential feature of successful SELLING and is so acknowledged by all successful business men everywhere.

ATTENTION MEDINA COUNTY VOTERS.

Next Tuesday, November 3rd, in this year of 1936, at the general election there will be voted on six amendments to the Texas Constitution, and will appear at the bottom of the ballot. These amendments ought to be voted against for the reason that they are dangerous.

Amendment No. 1, provides for a State Monopoly of the sale of liquor, which if carried would not only lose millions in taxes, as the State pays no taxes, but would also create a political machine the like of which the country has never seen. Amendment No. 2, provides for a retirement fund for school teachers. Why should people who are well paid afterwards retire and get a pension? Others have to work, if they have to can work as long as they are in this world. Amendment No. 3, is of the same nature as No. 2, except it affects different persons, but of the same nature. Amendment No. 4, has to do with the pardoning power. The present law should not be tampered with, so let good enough alone. No. 5, provides more salary for State Officers, this has been defeated by the voters of Texas, in previous elections more than half a dozen times. The argument that better men will offer if the pay is higher is all bunk, and the fact that there are so many in the race every year is strong proof that this is not so. Amendment No. 6, has to do with the electing of representatives in certain counties of so much population. The present law should be left intact, as it has well and is well serving its purpose.

The manufacturing of laws goes on much faster than we can absorb them, and the voting for these Amendments would be but to endorse the making of more laws. If these amendments would be submitted in a special election which they always should be they would be easily defeated, but as they are tacked on to the ballot in the general election, the chances are that all will carry, as those who favor them will take the time and trouble to vote for them, while a large number of those who would vote against them but fail to do so, will not mark the bottom of the ballot at all, thereby making it possible for all of them to carry.

political subdivisions is $647,666-457.23, this includes bonds and time warrants, the delinquent taxes run into the hundreds of millions, and the delinquent taxes in Medina County are $212,197.35, and to vote for these amendments which means more taxes, when millions are on relief, would be an act of folly, which we believe the people of this county and state, will not be a party to. CASTROVILLE TAX PAYERS LEAGUE.

WURZBACH-RIHN.

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of relatives and friends was that of Miss Bernice Rihn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rihn of Medina, and Ellis O. Wurzbach, son of Mrs. Henry F. Wurzbach, of Cliff.

The ceremony took place Tuesday morning, October 20, 1936, in St. Louis Catholic Church at Castroville, with Rev. Dean J. Lenzen officiating.

The bridegroom entered to the wedding march from "Lohengrin", played by Alfred Schmidt, who also played the recessional. Mass was sung by the choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white duchess satin trimmed with rose point lace and tiny satin-covered buttons.

The skirt extended to form a train. Her tulle veil was caught to the head by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a round bouquet of Japanese chrysanthemums and carnations showered with lilies of the valley and fern.

Miss Vivian Rihn assisted her sister as maid of honor, and Mrs. Leonard Mangold as matron of honor. They wore gowns of coral velvet, fashioned along period lines, the skirts extending into short trains.

Misses Wyril Stoll of Wichita, Kan., Ethel Haby, Constance Huselager and Eunice Christilles were the bride's attendants. They wore velvet gowns of a lighter shade, fashioned like those of the maid and matron.

All wore belts of purple shaded velvet ribbon. Their caps of invisible tulle, were finished with the same shade of velvet. They carried colonial bouquets of purple asters.

August Wurzbach served as best man and groomsmen were Daniel Keller, Alois Rihn, Clyde Mangold and Leon Steidle.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Red radiance roses and white dwarf zinnias were used to decorate the rooms.

The bride's cake was embossed with sugar spun petunias in pastel shades. Mesdames A. N. Mangold, Alfred Steidle and Ed Mansfield presided at the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Wurzbach left later in the day for a short trip to Dallas and Fort Worth, after which they will make their home in Shreveport, La. For traveling the bride wore a rust wool suit with fox fur and harmonizing accessories.

Mrs. Wurzbach attended Our Lady of the Lake High School and College. She is a very talented young lady and possessor of a lovely soprano voice. She has appeared on numerous radio programs from San Antonio radio stations. Mr. Wurzbach is a graduate of Texas A. and M. College where he was one of the most popular students on the campus.

ANVIL SPARKS.

Roosevelt, Landon, Lemke, Thomas— whoever you believe is the best man for President. Do the same for other offices. It is your inalienable right to vote for whomver you please. And only by voting on the men and issues of the time, can that right be preserved.—Industrial News Review.

LOOK NOW—DON'T WAIT.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure—and one thorough inspection of your property may prevent a disastrous fire.

The cold season will soon envelop much of the United States. Furnaces and other heating devices will be taxed to their utmost. More lights will be used and will be in operation for more hours of the day. Fireplaces will be in service.

To enter the winter season without checking such equipment is to give a hostage to fortune. Many a heating plant has developed an inconspicuous flaw—and fire has resulted. Chimneys are always a potential source of trouble, as are flues and fireplaces. An ancient electric cord may have "worked all right last year" yet be in condition to cause a serious fire today.

If you were wise, you took advantage of Fire Prevention Week, which was observed early in October. You listened to talks, read pamphlets and learned of the more common hazards, how to search for them, and how to eliminate them. Apply that knowledge now.

If you aren't sure that you can properly inspect your property, any insurance agent will be glad to help. So will fire marshals and fire departments. And there is a wealth of printed material which is obtainable for nothing.

In communities where it is possible, have the inspection made by a fireman or a member of the fire marshal's department. He'll know what to look for.

So—don't wait until the snow is on the ground and the temperature is below zero to wonder whether you are safe from fire. Find out now—and if repairs are necessary, have them done immediately by qualified experts.—Industrial News Review.

THE INVISIBLE GUEST.

"Today there is an invisible guest who sits at the table of every family in the country," said Lewis H. Brown, President of Johns-Manville, recently. "He is the invisible tax-eater, who collects the hidden taxes."

When the housewife purchases three pork chops, the butcher weighs them out, but only wraps up two. The third he gives to this invisible guest.

Every family in America is supporting this "invisible guest". Something like twenty per cent of all the money we earn goes to his support, directly or indirectly. And he will take still more in the future, when the days of reckoning come and we must pay our staggering governmental debts—federal, state and local.

Taxation is a great issue—but it should not be regarded as a partisan political issue. Men high in both our major parties have paid lip service to tax reduction, and then, through their acts, brought about higher taxes. Politics, left to its own devices, expands its operations and grows constantly more expensive.

Whether you are a Republican, a Democrat or a Socialist, taxation is one of the largest items in your budget. Irrespective of the political party in power, only the strong force of concentrated public opinion can bring about tax reduction and remove a menace to industrial development, savings, employment—and economic prosperity.—Industrial News Review.

HOW MUCH TODAY?

How much will you spend for taxes today?

Perhaps you will answer "Nothing, there are no taxes due"—but you are wrong.

Taxes are due every day—and you pay them every day.

For example, if you buy a pair of shoes, you pay about a dollar in taxes—taxes temporarily paid for you by manufacturer, distributor and retailer, and then collected by adding to the price of the product.

If you buy 35 cents worth of meat, you pay at least six cents in taxes. If you use two gallons of gasoline, you pay ten or twelve cents in taxes. So it goes with everything you buy or do—from your morning coffee to the movie show you attend this evening.

Nothing escapes taxation, and most taxes are indirect—that is, they are part of commodity and service costs. Direct taxes—such as taxes on income, property, etc.—constitute the smaller part of the total tax burden.

So—how much will you spend for taxes today?—Industrial News Review.

The half-truths told as a matter of political expediency or in the effort to trim facts to fit the needs of one's masters is enough to induce the devil to go on a long deferred vacation. He has so many agents working for him!

'ORTHODOX' MEANS.

By Robert H. Hemphill, Financial Authority in San Antonio Light.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain in the English parliament, recently stated that he doesn't like our national efforts at recovery.

He says England is recovering by the "orthodox process".

Mr. James P. Warburg, speaking in Philadelphia, voices a somewhat similar sentiment.

The orthodox method of creating a depression in England is for the small group who control the Bank of England to withdraw credit until the populace is reduced to bankruptcy and therefore docile and willing to borrow on any terms the bankers may dictate.

When liquidation is complete, which means when almost everyone in business or industry has been sold out and any property or profits they have accumulated have been acquired at bankrupt sale by this small group of bankers and their favored associates, and when the king and parliament have been properly spanked for any impertinence they may have shown, credit is loosened up and the population is so grateful for a chance to again do business that they never think about trying to find out what happened.

Here in America the proceeding is much the same.

A few big city banks start "liquidating"—calling their loans.

As there is only about 10 per cent cash in existence, in the banks and out, to pay up the loans of all the banks, these few big city banks of course get in many times their share before the balance of the bankers get wise to what is going on, then they all get frantic to grab what remains.

It is every banker for himself against every other banker, and industry and commerce get shot as innocent bystanders.

The small banks out in the "sticks" who are the last to find out what is going on, go bust, of course.

After the nation is reduced to bankruptcy and the insiders have picked up all the bargains in the way of railroads and utilities, and the cream of the manufacturing properties, and when all of the banks who don't play the game with the big shots are broke and closed up, these big, "sound" banks MAY loosen up and let us do a little business on THEIR TERMS.

It's just as simple as shooting fish.

Whether it is a conscious and systematic process of periodic reduction of our population to approximate slavery, or just an accident of our absurd financial system, is immaterial.

Giving a small group of men the power to limit or contract public credit and to ISSUE CREDIT TO THEMSELVES OR THEIR OWN FAVORED CIRCLE—credit which can be and is used as money—confers on them the power to BANKRUPT HUMANITY and BUY US ALL AT THEIR OWN PRICE ANY TIME THEY ARE DISPOSED TO DO SO.

The irony of it is that our president and congress have always believed they were running this country, just as parliament thinks it runs England.

The framers of our constitution wisely gave congress the EXCLUSIVE power to ISSUE MONEY AND REGULATE ITS VALUE.

By an evolutionary process we have COMPLETELY ABROGATED that provision by substituting another medium of exchange—BANK CREDIT—manufactured and controlled by a FAVORED FEW who have come to be the REAL PROPRIETORS OF THE NATION.

Because of this situation our government has been POWERLESS TO PROTECT SOCIETY and unable to direct or control our welfare.

It is quite obvious that society will remain helpless until our government CAPTURES the COMPLETE CONTROL of the issue, not only of currency, which is comparatively unimportant, but the control of BANK CREDIT, which we use almost EXCLUSIVELY FOR MONEY.

The president is recovering CONTROL OF OUR CURRENCY.

The control of BANK CREDIT is a LOGICAL SEQUENCE, and just about TEN TIMES MORE IMPORTANT.

"Lest we forget", the foregoing is reprinted from the Hearst newspapers as it appeared in the early years of the Depression.

With the leading candidates of both the major parties not only studiously avoiding any mention of "government recapture of the complete control of the issue of currency" but some of their spokesmen actually bleating that "nobody knows the cause of the depression", it is well that we be again reminded.

"Lest we forget."

Don't forget our exceptional advantages for handling your real estate. Hondo Land Company.
